TOO HUNGRY TO BE GLAD

Germans Can't Be Goaded to Celebrate Kaiser's "Great Victory"

London, June 5—A neutral who has just returned from Rhineland has told the Times correspondent at The Hague that great endeavors were made to celebrate the German advance and to represent it as a glorious victory for the kaiser. There was a good deal more drinking than usual, but there was nothing extra to eat, for the simple reason that it did not exist. The rejoicing was restricted to those who are of more than military age, who sit in cafes and dispose of the fate of Europe over a pot of beer.

The masses of people have been very depressed, especially since the new order for lowering the bread ration was announced. At Mudheim the whole population have been living on four pounds of bread a week for each person because there was nothing else to be had—no potatoes, nothing whatever besides bread. The people are so discontented that they talked of striking, but were afraid, being greatly intimidated by the military. The informant said:

"Germans repeatedly assured me in the manufacturing towns and industrial districts that boys from 12 to 15 years of age are in training to use machine guns to suppress disturbances should they arise. The people as a whole would be delighted if the war ended at once."

COUNCIL GETS BUSY

Large Volume of Business Transacted Last Night—New License Law Adopted After Spirited Debate.

Twelve members of the Common Council were in attendance at the adjourned session held last night and quite a large volume of business was disposed of, including the final adoption of the new license law for the city, which had already been passed by the Board of Aldermen after amendments had been made to five sections.

Considerable discussion was caused by the action taken by the Board of Aldermen regarding one or two amendments, in which President Smith and Councilman Lawler took opposite sides and for a brief period it looked as though the license law would be sent back to a conference committee, all on account of the tax on barber shops. It escaped that delay by a "close shave," so to speak, and later was adopted. The full text of the new law will appear in tomorrow's Gazette:

Among the important resolutions introduced was a very commendable one by Councilman Wattles. It prohibits the opening of mufflers on motor-propelled vehicles while passing through the streets of the city and provides for a fine of from $1 to $25 for its violation. It should be adopted, in the opinion of many citizens, as its practice has become decidedly objectionable.

Another resolution introduced establishes what is known as a quiet, or as it is called in other cities, a "hospital zone" and embraces the entire square in which the Alexandria city hospital is situated. It is hoped that it may soon become a law. Seven hundred dollars was asked for to pay the salary of the school nurse and Chief Kenneth Ogden submitted a request asking for an increase in the pay of the engineers and drivers of the Fire Department. The price of coke was fixed at 30 cents per bushel or $3.75 per load. Chief Goods, of the Police Department, asked for $100 to pay his expenses to the annual convention of police chiefs to be held in Kansas City. A communication was received from various organizations in the city urging the adoption of a law to protect the young girls who are inclined to keep late hours on the streets; a petition was received from George A. Harlow asking for the removal of the fountain from Cameron and Royal streets, and other communications of more or less interest were read by Clerk Stansbury for the edification of the councilmen, all of which were speedily referred to the proper committees.

TURN OUT ALL LIGHTS

Seashore Resorts Also Are Affected by Order Issued by Police Commissioner.

New York, June 5.—New York city is to be a city of dimmed lights every night from now until further notice according to orders issued by Police Commission Enright, after consultation with the military authorities. Coney Island, Rockaway Beach, Midland and South Beaches, and all the other seashore resorts in the city limits, are included in the order forbidding all display illumination. In all probability similar steps will be taken at all the resorts along the coast as a result of the U.-Boat depredations.

Commissioner Enright refused to say whether the order was the outcome of fear that the U-boats operating along the coast might have brought with them airplanes to bomb New York and other coast cities.

Commissioner Enright issued instructions to the people of the city how to act in case of an air raid. The order was as follows:

"The police department desires to notify all residents of the city through the press that in the event of a raid on this city by enemy aeroplanes, the following signals will be given:

"Siren horns or whistles will be sounded continuously for ten minutes.

"When this signal is given everyone should immediately open the windows of their homes or offices and go at once to the cellar of the premises.

"After the danger has passed a signal will be given by short blasts or siren horns or whistles at intervals of one minutes, for a period of twenty minutes."

HUNS ARE BEING HELD

Drives Stopped With Heavy Boch Losses—Americans Force Foe Back a Mile.

Paris, June 5.—The Germans continue to pound at the allied defenses on the western portion of the Marne battlefront, but are held at all points, the French war office announced today.

Particularly violent enemy attacks were directed at the village of Chesy, south of the Ourcq (near where an American unit recaptured Neuilly), but they were all stopped with heavy Boche losses.

The fighting on the southern and eastern portions of the battlefront was confined to artilery activity.

"Local attacks continued yesterday evening and last night along the northern outskirts of Carlepont (five miles south of Noyon). Two German attacks were stopped by French machine guns in the Autreches region (three miles north of the Aisne). Other attempts failed east of Dommiers (six miles south of Soissons) and toward Corcy (five miles south of Dommiers).

"North of Corcy infantry actions with the help of tanks enabled the French to rectify their lines on the borders of the forest of Villers-Cotterets.

"South of the Ourcq violent German attacks against Chezy (two miles north of Neuilly) and southwest of that locality were broken up with heavy losses.

With the American Army in France, June 5.—The American infantry on the Lorraine front on Monday forced the Germans to retreat a mile. Our losses in this fighting were comparatively light, although we suffered somewhat from shellfire.

In the Luneville sector a small patrol encountered a German patrol of seventeen and a fight followed. Grenades, pistols and bayonets were used, three of the Germans being killed.

Another American patrol penetrated to an enemy observation post, blowing it up.

Hun U-boats ravage the Atlantic coast.

Far from fleeing from United States naval forces, the kaiser's submarines are still attempting their blockade of America's largest ports.

Late yesterday morning an American destroyer drove away a German submersible just as it was about to destroy a French steamer—the Radioleine.

The Radioleine has since reached an Atlantic port.

Still another ship was added to the toll of the undersea boats, for the destroyer reports taking aboard two men of the crew of the Edward Beard, which was bombed and sinking.

The report shows that the U-boats are still off the coast, ready for their prey. The new position of the submarine is considerably south of the previous ravages. Apparently the Radioleine was on her way from Europe to America.

The location of the U-boat should facilitate the task of keeping track of her from now on. It is not permissible to discuss the means employed.

The fact that the destroyer was at the right spot at the right time indicates that the United Staes navy is already coping with the situation and doubtless knows much more about the U-boats' movements than is generally supposed.

Details are lacking, but it is presumed that the U-boat put her nose under at once when the destroyer hove in sight.

The submarine, which risks encounters with schooners and cargo-carriers, declined the challenge to fight it out with the well-equipped American craft.

Reports flashed to the Navy Department late last night state that an American destroyer has come in contact with one of the German U-boats operating off the American coast.

Opportunity Offered to Men.

The announcement made by the Chapin-Sacks Manufacturing Company, of Washington, D. C., which appears on the fourth page, offers an attractive position, with good pay, to men who may be out of employment. Read it now.

COMPULSORY SEWER TAPPING

The inspection of the sanitary conditions of the city by the grand jury last week made it clear that a number of property-owners in Alexandria have made no serious attempts during the past three years to connect their houses with sewers which are in front of their property or in alleys contiguous thereto. Under the law they should have made connections three years ago. Many have availed themselves of the privilege of eliminating nuisances by complying with the law, while others did not wait for any compulsion, but tapped sewers as soon as they were brought close to their property.

In certain localities where trunk sewers have been constructed during the past twenty years unsanitary and unsightly conditions exist as was the case in the last years of the past century. Foul outhouses are still in evidence, while gutters are filled with putrid liquids in front of houses which are virtually on top of sewers. Tidy people, in some cases, residing next door to such delinquent, are loud in their complaints, and ask, "Why is the law not enforced?"

It may be urged in extenuation at this time that plumbers are unable to fill the many orders which crowd upon them, but why people who reside upon streets where sewers were placed at least twenty years ago have neglected to tap the same is a query they may find it difficult to answer should they be arraigned before the Police Court.

The authorities have the names of such delinquents, and now that the grand jury's investigations have brought them into prominence, it would be well for the heretofore negligent to take immediate steps toward obeying the law.

A tidy person compelled to live near an untidy neighbor has his patience tried. The man or woman who permits a nuisance upon his or her premises brings about conditions which annoy the residents of an entire block. It will be well for those interested to take heed and act accordingly, as the authorities are bent upon enforcing the sanitary laws of the city. Summer is here, and every effort should be made to avoid epidemics of typhoid fever or other maladies which are generally bred from neglect.

ANGLO-SAXON OR TEUTON

That we were in the war to fight to a finish and that we had to win, if only to see the triumph of good over evil, were the sentiments expressed at the great patriotic demonstration in the Wesley building, in Philadelphia, yesterday morning, under the auspices of the Methodist Preachers' Association of that city. A feature of the rally was the unveiling of an honor roll of the five missionary workers who have gone to France to labor among the men in the service, and the forty-three sons of ministers who are in the service.

The principal address was made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lloyd, of the Canadian army, who was crippled after several months' service. He said:

"People of the United States think they have given a great deal, but we should remember what our allies have spent. England alone, previous to the Third Liberty Loan, had spent three and one-half times as much as you have. Think what that means to every man, woman and child in England! Imagine the misery of standing hour after hour waiting for a ration card for potatoes, meat, or bread, or whatever it may be. Do you realize that women of rank, titled ladies who never did a thing all their lives, are toiling and slaving in munition factories ten and twelve hours a day? I tell you, you people here in the United States have no more idea of war than we had in 1914.

"The Hun has one ideal, Germany must rule the world. Whether he live or die, he has this one principal, to put the Fatherland on top of the world. The big issue is the supremacy of the Teuton, or the Anglo-Saxon. One must be exterminated and the other must survive. We must fight until there isn't a man left in Germany who is able to fight."

The speaker told of the great part that woman was playing in the war, that not the least duty she had was suppressing tears and forcing smiles under sorrow and pain.

ROME APPEALS TO KAISER

During a certain period the republic of Rome did not pay taxes. The third Macedonian war resulted in victory for the Romans and brought to an end the ancient kingdom of Macedonia in 168 B. C.

In describing the triumph accorded the victorious Roman general it is related that the celebration continued for three days. On the first day 250 wagons carried the statues and paintings which had been plundered from Macedonian cities. On the next day there passed many wagons, carrying Macedonian standards and armor, followed by 3,000 men loaded with the silver money and silver plate which had been secured in the booty. On the third day came a procession of men carrying gold spoil, followed by the conqueror in a splendid chariot.

Rome so filled her coffers with treasure by this plunder that the republic never thereafter taxed her citizens. Thus, while the statement is historically true, the fact that there was no taxation in the ancient Roman republic for a period of several years is not at all creditable to the Romans, for the condition was the result of plunder instead of economical administration of public affairs.

There can no be doubt that historical extracts similar to the above appeal to the kaiser and his predatory war lords. The Germans have not merely robbed the inhabitants of conquered territory, but they are still dreaming of enormous indemnities from those they have deprived of all their possessions.

TOBACCO A NECESSITY

Tobacco has been classed by the government as a necessity and producers will be given preferential fuel supplies.

The above paragraph will be read with interest by a large percentage of the people of the United States, as many well-meaning people regard the Indian plant as a weed, but it is not. More labor and pains is necessary in the growth of tobacco than most cereals.

Butler in his Hudibras says: "We condone sins for which we have a mind to, and condemn those we are not inclined to." Some people have no taste for the narcotic, although many who look with contempt upon tobacco have a decided appetite for stimulants, which they do not fail to gratify.

The government is right in its deductions. To thousands — probably millions—tobacco is a necessity. "Pipe of Comfort" is a great desideratum to many.

The red man smokes his pipe of peace today while most of the civilized nations of the world are at each other's throats. The man in the trenches, especially those who have a taste for the plant, want it now to steady their nerves which are being tried to the limit. Its exciting principles are needed while they are far from their homes battling against the foe of civilization.

SPELLS DESPERATION.

German submarines are on this side of the Atlantic; American soldiers are on the other side, and yesterday received their baptism of blood in the historic "battle for Paris."

The Washington Herald suggests that the lurking of the U-boat off American ports spells description; the fighting of Americans along the Marne and the Ourcq spells destiny. One is the wild lunge of a tiring foeman; the other is merely the first but carefully planned try-out of American strength in the thick of the fight.

German U-boat raids are comparable in purpose to the Zeppelin raids on London of the long range bombardment of Paris. Not to hold them in contempt would be to hold too lightly the power of the American navy, of which we are rightly so proud.

The Richmond Journal in this connection says, the Germans evince dense ignorance of the psychology of the American nation. Their U-boats are in North Atlantic waters, not to take serious toll of our ships, but to "throw a scare" into our people, believing that in this way they can frighten them into petitioning the government to end the war. How futile, how childish, is their course. Instead of accomplishing the purpose sought, the hardy growth of this New World is moved to still more righteous indignation against the clumsy and brutal Huns, whose dastardly work they properly despise and execrate.

SLAVS KILL OFFICERS

Three Revolts in Austrian Army Instigated by Men From Russia.

Austrian soldiers returning from the prison camps in Russia apparently instigated the recent revolts in the Austrian army, according to German newspapers which finally have published accounts of the uprisings. An official dispatch from Switzerland yesterday quotes the papers as saying that the trouble started in the Slavic battalion of the Ninth infantry at Judenbourg and extended to Czech and Serbian regiments at other stations.

The Slavs of the Ninth infantry, the dispatch said, killed their German officers, but finally were driven into the mountains and there disarmed after severe fighting. Later Czech troops at Fumberg revolted and, while many were subdued after a pitched battle, some escaped over the German frontier, and took refuge in the mountains of Saxony. They finally were made prisoners by German troops.

The third revolt, the account said, was of a Serbian regiment from Austria, stationed at Funkirchen. The Serbians massacred their officers, but eventually were overcome.

U-BOAT DANGER PAST

United States Navy Appears to Have the Better Hand in the Submarine Situation.

The navy today appeared to have the upper hand in the submarine situation. It was the belief of officials that the German submersibles operating in American waters had shot their bolt, and it was permissible to say that American destroyers were coping fully with the situation.

There was every reason to believe that more is known of the raiders' movements than might be apparent, and this is borne out by the fact that an American destroyer was set at the right spot at the right time when one of the submarines attempted to sink the French steamer Radioleine. Some navy officials even went so far as to hint that the day might bring forth results of a highly gratifying nature to the American public.

The Food Administration Asks:

"Will it reduce the cost of living to use less milk?"

And it answers:

"No, for milk is now the cheapest animal food.

"One thing a housewife needs to know in planning the daily meals is that they should contain some animal food—meat, fish, poultry, eggs, milk, or cheese.

"One can not be vigorous and at one's best without it.

"Grain is needed to produce these animal foods. The animal food that takes the least grain to produce a given amount of nourishment is milk.

"This means that if we use milk in place of other animal food, (1) we are saving grain, and (2) we are buying for ourselves the cheapest form of animal food.

"We may not like milk so well as meat, but it really costs less.

"In the long run, therefore, we are saving food for our soldiers and money for ourselves when we use milk, cheese, cream and butter.

"Allow one quart of milk, raw or cooked, for each child in your family and one pint for each grown person every day."

Mr. Hoover don't say so, but—

If your milk comes from Featherstone you will know it's clean as well as having good food value.

GRECIAN'S EXPERIENCE

Got Wireless Messages From Carolina, Wiley and Submarine.

An Atlantic Port, June 5—The Merchants and Miners' Line steamship Grecian, which brought the crew of the sunken schooner Jacob M. Haskell to port, was herself within sound of the firing as the German submarines carried on their work of destruction, although the U-boats were not sighted. Messages warning of the activities of the submersibles were picked up by the Grecian soon after she sailed from an Atlantic port.

"Shortly after we came out around Delaware Cape Sunday," said Captain E. T. Page, "we picked up a wireless telling of the sinking of the schooner Isabel B. Wiley. Two hours later we received a message from the steamer Carolina saying she was being gunned by a submarine, but giving no position. It was not long after this that we heard heavy gunfire to the eastward and decided to run back toward the Delaware Breakwater."

Captain Page was puzzled by a third wireless message, sent in a familiar code which read:

"Three boats containing fifty men from sunken ships twenty miles southeast of Barnegat." The message was not signed and there was nothing to indicate its source. It was recalled here that three boatloads of seamen who had been held on a submarine for several days were released by the enemy late Sunday afternoon off the New Jersey coast and it was suggested that the message might have been sent out by the submarine itself.

Captain Page kept his vessel well in shore and late Sunday night when a thunderstorm came up, accompanied by a heavy fog, resumed his voyage.

NO LIGHT ON CYCLOPS

Was She Destroyed or Captured? Is Still the Question.

Did the German submarines which raided American shipping off the Jersey coast destroy the missing collier Cyclops or did they capture her at sea, put aboard a prize crew, and send her to Germany?

Out of the mysterious disappearance of the American collier, now missing three months, this question has been raised by the passing remark of one of the submarine commanders to Captain Lowry, of the steamer Texel, that the U-boats had been on the American side of the Atlantic for two months.

It is possible though not probable, naval experts say, that the collier with her great cargo of manganese might have been sunk without a trace, after she left Barbados where she had put in for fuel.

It is more likely, however, they say, that the Cyclops, sailing homeward some time after March 4 when she cleared from Barbados, was met at night by submarines, possibly by prearrangement, at a time when only an officer on the bridge and a small watch on deck was to be reckoned with. If the Germans met the ship by arrangement it would have been very easy to send an armed crew below to quarters where most of her men were asleep and take possession of the ship. Whether she then could have been skilfully navigated through the Allied blockade to Germany or hidden in some out-of-the-way port only adds to the mystery.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS GRAFT

Eight Deaths, 100 Arrests in Japanese War Plant Scandal.

Tokyo, June 5—The suicide of Norikichi Oshikawa, president of the Government iron foundry at Yawata, has resulted in the arrest of more than 100 persons, including prominent officials and business men. It is stated that seven others have hanged themselves while their conduct was under examination. The homes and offices of many railway and mining company officials have been searched. Oshikawa's management of the iron foundry has been investigated by a court, and the Japan Times says it has revealed "one of the worst scandals that has ever occurred in Japan." It is alleged that Oshikawa accepted a gift of 10,000 yen for a favorable contract granted to a shipbuilding concern. He formerly was minister of the Department of Agriculture.

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side...

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists. NC128

WAR ON SUBMARINES

Allied Fleets Have Sunk Seventy-Five Per cent of German Submersibles.

The allied fleets have sunk 75 per cent of supersubmarines sent to sea by the Germans in the last six months, according to an admiral of the United States Navy, who discussed at length yesterday the possibility of destroying the raiders who operated on the New Jersey coast Sunday, he said:

"It is impossible for any man accurately to estimate the strength and general type of a vessel unless he has been given exceptional training in such matters. For that reason I am not inclined to believe the report that the submarines which sank our coastwise traders were 200 feet in length.

"However, the question of the type of submarine sent against our coast is of small interest compared with the possibilities of our operating successfully against them. We have accounted for at least 75 per cent of the new cruiser type of German submarines, which have put to sea in the past six months. The Germans must have learned by this time that for every foot added to the size of the submarine, her visibility to balloon and aircraft is increased by equal ratio Strange as it may seem, the most dangerous submarine today is the small type used by all nations when the war opened. At the same time such craft are of no value, of course, if the Germans plan to terrorize our Atlantic seaboard."

MISSION OF U-BOATS

Left Kiel After Celebration Provisioned for Six Months, Says German.

New York, June 5—A member of the crew of the U-151, the German submarine which destroyed the schooner Edna, told Enoch Roker, one of the Edna's crew, Roker said here yesterday, that the U-boat fleet plans to remain in American waters until August. Roker, for eight days a prisoner on the submarine, was rescued after he and other prisoners had been placed in the open boats of another sunken ship and arrived here last night.

"The storekeeper told me that since they had left Kiel two months ago, after a big celebration before the submarine fleet left," Roker said today, "they were provisioned for a six-month cruise and he said they intended to stay on the western Atlantic coast until August at least. He didn't tell me how many submarines there were in the fleet, as the officers on board kept vigilant eyes and ears."

SEIZED AS WELL POISONER

Supposed German Agent is Caught After Tampering With Water.

Pittsburgh, June 5. — Accused of poisoning wells and suspected of being a German agent, James Frye was caught by a posse of Ohio township farmers Sunday afternoon and placed in Central Police Station, here. At the farm of John Meinert, his young son, John, Jr., saw a stranger pouring something into a well Later, while John W. Frasier, a neighbor, was ordering the same man from his place, young Meinert appeared, recognized the intruder and told Frasier about the well incident.

Frasier then discovered the water in his own wells had been tampered with. A posse captured Frye after an exciting chase. He had white powders and railroad daily [illegible] reported.

BROTHERS SENT TO CHAIR

One of Them Jokes With Judge After Death Penalty is Imposed.

Sunbury, Pa., June 5.—"Good night, Mr. Judge, there are certainly no flies on you," remarked Henry Sallada, of Sacramento, Pa., after he had been sentenced to be electrocuted for the murder of Jacob Schleig, a Johnson City merchant. Jacob Salada, who immediately afterward also was sentenced to die, said that he did not believe he was guilty of first-degree murder, as he had fired in self-defense. The brothers were the first to be sentenced to the chair from Northumberland county and it was the first time that two persons ever were sentenced to die at the same time.

Schleig was killed on a lonely mountain road near Shamokin, on January 5. His pockets were empty and three buttons torn from his vest. His gold watch lay within 5 feet of the body. Suspicion pointed to the Sallada brothers who were traced to Dubois and arrested. Both were convicted of first-degree murder last month. They admitted the shooting, but asserted that Schleig had accused them of stealing his pigeons, and had drawn a revolver before Jacob Sallada fired the fatal shot. Relatives of the defendants, including Jacob's wife, abandoned them at the trial.

FEARS HUN DOMINATION

Bulgarian Troops Resent Teuton Grip on Upper Dobrudja.

Bulgarians are indignant over the terms of the treaty of Bucharest and the retention of upper Dobrudja by the central powers, according to advices reaching Washington yesterday.

Numerous demonstrations have occurred, and an entire division of Bulgarian troops has been recalled because of a violent demonstration staged upon receipt of the peace terms. Despite the plea of the government to "keep cool," the indignation is running high, it was stated, and unless some adjustment is made, serious trouble may result.

According to Dr. Stephen Panaretoff, Bulgarian Minister here, Bulgaria is no more desirous of seeing Dobrudja in the hands of the central empires than in the possession of Rumania. Germany's domination of the mouth of the Danube threatens Bulgarian as well as Roumanian commercial freedom.

"Bulgaria still looks to the United States for an equitable adjustment of the Balkan question when peace comes," the minister stated, adding that there was not the slightest chance in the world of Bulgarians ever opposing American troops unless they started hostilities in Bulgar territory.

"An attempt to send Bulgars to the west front would cause a revolution, Dr. Panaretoff intimated. In recent communications to Premier Radaslavoff, through the State Department, the minister urged strongly that "the present policy toward the United States be continued."

The action of Capt. Vladislav Tsanoff, formerly military attache at the Bulgar legation in Stockholm who resigned and offered to fight with American troops when he read an erroneous report of Bulgars on the west front, is indicative of Bulgarian sentiment, the minister declared.

MISTAKE SHIP FOR TARGET

Battleship Louisiana Shelled by Sister Ship; One Dead.

Mistaken for a target, the United States battleship Louisiana was struck by shell from another American battleship during target practice on June 1, and one of her crew was killed. Announcement of the accident was made by the Navy Department last night in the following statement:

"The commander-in-chief of the Atlanti fleet has reported to the Navy Department that on June 1, while certain vessels of the fleet were holding target practice, one ship, due to the bad visibility, mistook another ship for the target, with the result that the U. S. S. Louisiana was struck by a shell, and Moses L. Morgan, fireman, third class, of Gulf Point, Fla., was killed.

"The commander-in-chief is having the accident thoroughly investigated, and a report will be forwarded to the department as soon as it is completed."

ALEXANDRIA MAN'S LUCKY FIND.

Will Interest Readers of the Gazette.

Those having the misfortune to suffer from backache, urinary disorder, gravel, dropsical swelling, rheumatic pains, or other kidney and bladder disorders, will read with gratification this encouraging statement by an Alexandria man.

Walter C. Dameron, railroad brakeman, 325 N. Columbus St., says: "My back often hurt so badly I had to lay off work. After I got down I couldn't straighten up again without sharp pains catching me across my kidneys. My back ached constantly and my kidneys acted too frequently during the night, so I had to get up every little while. When morning came I felt so tired and weak I could hardly drag myself out of bed. I tried different medicines, but felt no better until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Henry Callan's Drug Store. I took about six boxes in all an dsince then I have had but little trouble from my kidneys and I have felt like a different person."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Dameron had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SURVIVORS' EXPERIENCE

Graphic Story of Sinking of Steamship Carolina by German Submarine.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 5—A vivid and graphic story of the sinking of the New York and Porto Rican Line steamship Carolina was told by Mrs. A. L. Seymour, of New York one of the twenty-seven survivors who landed here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in one of the Carolina's lifeboats.

As in the case of the other vessels sunk by this courteous German pirate, the passengers and crew were given sufficient time to get into the boats and away from the ship before she was sunk. The Carolina was bombed or torpedoed when the lifeboats had rowed about fifty yards away, according to Mrs. Seymour.

"We had just started for dinner" she said, "when a shell screamed a warning across the front of the ship. I can't describe how I felt when we realized that we were being attacked without warning by a submarine.

"I flung my arms about my daughter and held her close. My mind was filled with all kinds of fear. I thought of the women and children of France and Belgium and how they had been treated by the Germans and—I don't know whether I screamed or not—it was awful.

"Then came another shot—shrapnel, they said it was, and it splintered something in the bow of the ship.

"There were no arms on board and the captain ordered the ship stopped. In a few minutes something scraped along the side. It was a boat from the submarine. The officer in command spoke good English. He told our captain, who met him at the top of the ladder that he was going to sink the ship, but he would give us time to get off in the boats.

"He examined the ship's papers and then waited with his men while we scrambled into the boats. His men were heavily armed.

"There were more than 200 passengers and more than 100 in the crew. The women and children went first. I want to say that the crew, although many of them could not speak English, acted splendidly.

"The boats were lowered and when everybody was taken off the ship we pulled away. We could see the lights of the other boats bobbing up and down. We were all afraid. Every minute we expected the Germans to shell us.

"We were about fifty yards away when there came a blinding flash and an awful explosion that rocked our boat. I don't know whether they shelled, bombed or torpedoed the Carolina, but we could see that she was sinking.

"In the night we were separated from the other boats Lieut. McLaren and Chief Purser Nortz looked after us wonderfully. The men did their best to keep our spirits up and tried to make us comfortable during those long hours when they were rowing through the darkness.

They insisted that we eat what little food there was and gave us most of the water. They gave us their coats, overalls, jumpers—everything they could spare to kep us warm.

"When we sighted land we were told by Lieut. McLaren that it looked like Atlantic City. Did it look good to us? Well, rather.

"And when we came ashore you had the band playing for us, just as if you knew we were coming."

Lewes, Del., June 5.—Nineteen survivors, passengers and crew, of the submarined steamship Carolina, were landed here yesterday and brought a harrowing tale of the sea, the news of the loss of sixteen of their number and a remarkable rescue of a girl while they drifted helpless on the ocean during a severe thunderstorm Sunday night. Ten boats left the Carolina before she was sunk by the German submarine U-37, all passed through the same storm, and the survivors here said they had felt sure all were lost. They expressed great joy when informed that most of the Carolina's company had been saved

KILLED BY ELECTRIC CAR

Identified as George Frostmiller, of Dubois, Pa.—Farm Home Struck by Lightning.

Petersburg, Va., June 5.—Coroner Crockford and a jury this afternoon held an inquest on the body of the stranger who was killed Saturday evening by a car on the Petersburg and Hopewell Electric Railway in Prince George county. The deceased was identified as George Frostmiller, of Dubois, Pa., a recently drafted man who arrived at Camp Lee. It had been noticed that since his arrival at the camp he had been acting very cheerly and in a manner that indicated that his mind was in some way unbalanced. It was developed by the evidence before the jury that as Motorman Barnes was bringing his car from the barns Saturday evening, about 6 o'clock, to go into service on the main, the deceased threw himself immediately in front of the car, and was run over, and his death quickly resulted. The jury's report was that the case was one of suicide, death resulting from shock and hemorrhage, caused by throwing himself in front of the car. The body will be sent to his home in Pennsylvania for burial.
